

Emma van Inwegen

MIT Sloan School of Management, 1 Main Street, Cambridge, MA 02142, USA
emmavani [at] mit [dot] edu

Education

PhD Management Science, Massachusetts Institute of Technology	2019-
BA Mathematics, Economics, University of Washington	2011-2015

Research Interests

Labor economics, program evaluation, platform design

Publications

“Minimum Wage Increases and Low-Wage Employment: Evidence from Seattle” (with Ekaterina Jardim, Mark Long, Robert Plotnick, Jacob Vigdor, Hilary Wething) 2021. American Economic Journal: Economic Policy. Conditionally accepted.

- Media coverage: The Economist, FiveThirtyEight, Los Angeles Times, New York Times, New York Times (The Upshot), Seattle Times, Washington Post
- Presented at: NBER Summer Institute 2017, PAA Annual Meeting 2017, APPAM Fall Conference 2016, APPAM International Conference 2016

“Payroll, revenue, and labor demand effects of the minimum wage” (with Ekaterina Jardim) 2019. Upjohn Institute of Employment Research Working Paper. 19-298

- Presented at: ASSA Annual Meeting 2018, Transatlantic Doctoral Conference 2019

Research in Progress

Help Hiring Increases Hires with John Horton

Workers Response to Price Uncompetitiveness (with Apostolos Filippas and John Horton)

The Ruble Collapse in an Online Marketplace: Some Lessons for Market Designers (with John Horton)

Research Assistant Experience

RA to Dr. John Horton (MIT)	2018-
RA to Dr. Jacob Vigdor (UW)	2015-2018

Fellowships, Honours, and Awards

Zenon S. Zannetos Memorial Fellowship (MIT)	2020-2021
MIT Graduate Student Fellowship	2019-2020

Additional Working Experience

Upwork, Economist & Market Design Consultant	2020-
Evans School of Public Policy & Governance, Research Analyst	2015-2018
Provost’s Advisory Committee for Students (UW), Chair	2014-2015
Associated Students of the University of Washington (UW), CFO	2013-2014

Personal Details

Language: English (Native)
Citizenship: USA